Implementing Responsive Design

New devices and platforms emerge daily. Browsers iterate at a remarkable pace. In light of this volatile landscape, I wrote a book about embracing the inherent flexibility of the web.

THIS IS WHAT I DO.

WEB DESIGN

I aim to create experiences that look and function beautifully across anything that can access the web. I am a web designer based in beautiful Pittsburgh, PA.

WRITING

I write about responsive design, atomic design, and more on my blog. I'm writing a book called Atomic Design, and have contributed pieces to a number of publications, magazines and books.

SPEAKING

I'm extremely passionate about what I do and love talking about where the Web is going. I speak about design, development and more at conferences all around the world.

WORKSHOPS

I give workshops about responsive web design, atomic design, the modern Web design process, and more at companies and conferences.

CONSULTING

I help organizations tackle the ever-shifting multi-device Web landscape, and can help with strategy, process, design, and development.

THIS IS RESPONSIVE

This Is Responsive is a site that collects resources, news and emerging patterns to help people create great responsive web experiences.

STYLEGUIDES.IO

Co-created with Anna Debenham, Styleguides.io is a website that shares examples, tools, and resources about style guides and pattern libraries. We also co-host a podcast!

PATTERN LAB

Dave Olsen and I created Pattern Lab, a tool to help people create and maintain effective interface design systems.

WTF MOBILE WEB

Co-curated with Jen Simmons, WTF Mobile Web collects examples of what not to do when creating web experiences in this mobile age.

WTF QR CODES

QR codes can be hilarious. Craig Villamor and I collect the most ridiculous implementations of QR codes out in the wild.

MUSIC

I'm primarily a bass player, though I also enjoy playing drums, guitar and keyboards (tabletops when nothing else is available). I play and record with my wonderful wife.

ART

Art has been a passion my whole life and I will always pursue it in some way shape or form. I enjoy painting, drawing, sculpting and designing.

I'm Brad Frost, a web designer, speaker, consultant, musician, and artist located in beautiful Pittsburgh, PA. I'm constantly tweeting, writing and speaking about the web and other topics. I've also helped create some tools and resources for web designers, including This Is Responsive, Pattern Lab, Styleguides.io, WTF Mobile Web, and Mobile Web Best Practices. You can follow me on Twitter.
